

ROMANS PROJECT

March 2015 Update

Translation Update

Marshall is currently in Kenya to continue the translation work of the Romans messages for the mp3 players. For one week now he has been working with three translators, from three different countries, Dan (Nigeria), Wakshuma (Ethiopia), and Bonheur (Rwanda). Already they have made great progress completing 1.5 or 2 sessions each day into Housa, Oromo and Kinyarwanda. Bonheur will stay later to finish the French translation and Joel will join he and Marshall to finish the work begun in Swahili. Pray for Marshall to have energy to encourage these men through long days of hard work. You can read more about the translation work at Marshall's blog: <http://rpfromafrica.blogspot.cz>

Here are a few things Marshall has posted:

The men have expressed several times their enthusiasm for translating these sessions from the book of Romans. The clear message of the gospel of God is powerful and relevant for every tribe, tongue, people, and nation. As I am learning, Africans have a strong tradition for oral learning. Thus, having these sermons from Romans translated into various African languages and loaded onto mp3 players is truly a valuable tool both for reaching people with the gospel of Christ and for building up local congregations of believers in the gospel of Christ.

PLEASE PRAY for Bonheur, Dan, and Wakshuma that they will remain physically healthy and in a good frame of mind to continue translating. PRAY that they would be constantly filled and led by the Holy Spirit to correctly understand the content of the messages and to accurately convey that in their own languages. PRAY ALSO that we would maintain good relationships so as to encourage one another in the work and to be a blessing to others around us.

Please pray also for Rick Calenberg who leaves for Kenya on March 12th and for the East Africa RP Directors Consultation on March 14th.

The men are able to enjoy times of fellowship before and after meals, leaving them refreshed to continue the difficult translation task.

The Subiaco Center where the translators are staying and working raises and grows all the food that is served.
